Bills and Resolutions Introduced in Both Houses-Fourth of July Claims.

WASHINGTON, January 29 .- House,-After a few private measures had been reported by office itteen the House, at 12:30 e'clock, white into committee of the whole, Mr. Hatta of Missouri in the chair, on the private calendar. The first measure on the calendar was Mr. McMillan's bill providing for the payment of the "Fourth of July" steins.

Mr. Goddes of Ohio explained that the bill comprised 943 claims distrib-uted among eleven States and one Territory and called for an expendiare of $229,000.

After a short debate, on motion of Mr. Barrows [Mich.] an amendment was adopted providing that if the per-son from whom he derived title shall be found to have been disloyal the claim shall be dismissed.

The committee then rose and re-octed two bills to the House, when they were passed.

The House then took a recess until 7:30 o'clock this evening, the evening sion to be for the consideration of the pension bills. The House, at its evening session, passed about fifty pension bills, and adjourned until Monday.

In the San to to-day Serator Walthall presented the credentials of re-election of the Hon. J. Z. George United States Senator from Missis-sippi. The credentials were read and Senator Ingalls, from the Committee on the Judiciary, reported favorably a bill relieving from political disabili-lles George S. Storks of the State of Texas, and on Mr. Ingalls's motion the bill was passed.

Azaong bills introduced was one by Senator Ca'l, at the request, he said, of the Governor of Florids, to authorize the Secretary of the Treasury to settle and pay the claim of the State of Florida on account of expenditures made in suppressing Indian hostilities. Senator Platt submitted a resolu-tion for reference to the Committee on Rules, and it was so referred, providing that executive nominations shall hereafter be considered in open session. Senator Platt said he would not care to speak on the resolution if it should be favorably reported on by the Committee on Rules, but would probably wish to do so if it were adversely reported.

resolution offered by Mr. Edmunds was agreed to, directing the Secretary of the Navy to transmit to the Senate copies of the drawings and report of the recent survey of the Nicaragua canal made by Chief Engineer Menocal. A resolution offered by Senator Eus-A resolution offered by Senator Eustis was agreed to, directing the Secretary of the Treasury to inform the Senate whether any instructions had been issued to the Arsistant Treasurer at New Orleans to refuse to receive silver dollars on deposit and issue therefor silver certificates, or whether he had been instructed to receive only he had been instructed to receive only saued, to it form the Senate the reasons upon which they were based.

The Chair laid before the Senate a mmunication from the Secretary of War reminding the Senate, apropos of Senator Miller's resolution of yesterday, that the circular space at the in-tersection of Maryland avenue and First street, at the western entrance of the Capitol grounds, had already been by law set saide for a statue of ex-President Garfield, and that a contract had been made with J. Q. A. Ward to erect a pedestal on the spot selected for the statue. The com-munication was laid on the table until Mr. Morrill's resolution should be brought up.

Proceeding to the calendar, the Senate resumed consideration of the bill to divide the Sioux Indian reservation in Dakots, which continued up to 2 o'clock, when Senator Vest took the floor on the Dakota bill. He disclaimed any hostility, perional or po-litical, to the people of Dako'n, and claimed himself to be a Western man, and proud of the Western country and its nagnificent development. He desired to look at the question involved in the Dakota proposition from the standpoint of elevated statesmanship and not of partisan basis. acrimonious spirit he relied on the Republicans, that never had they falled to take advantage of party feeling and bias in putting through their measures. He (Serator Vest) was a Democrat, and was proud of the fact. Without regard to politics, however, in the question, he would be a coward if he did not stand where he now stool. He asked why repeated refer-ences had been made in debate by the Republicans to party feeling? Why had reference been made to the fact that the people of Dakota were largely composed of Union soldiers, and that that fact might account for their restiveness on their political situation? Mr. Vest could show, and would bei are he got through, that many brave ex-Union veterans who had been shot and shelled and saber-struck, and he honored them for it, who were now residing in Dakets, were earnestly opposed to the measure reported from the Senate Committee on Territories; but he denied the right holic L'quor Tr of any man to peculiar privileges in this country because of having fought under one flag, because of esponsed any cause, because of having done his duty to his principles and convict ons as he unders and them. Justice should be done to all men. Why thrust before the people, in all their fit a sois', social and religious relations the dead issues of a dead strife when our country, as we had so well h a d the other day, was now being hopestly cemented together by the gicrious memories of the past and the bright anticipations of the future? Senator Vest read from a Dukota newspaper an editorial which said enough one-armed and onelegged Union veterans are in Dakota to whip a whole brigade of trattorons skunks like Vest and Butler [hugho], and you can bet your boots they can do it say day, right here on the open plains of the free roll of Dako's, and without resorting to bushwhacking or kukluxing either. If they use t believe it, all they have to do to test the loyalty of Dakota is to fire on Suzzier." "Permit me." raid Mr.

Vest, "to put at rest any apprehension on the part of the Dakota editor so far the people from governing them-selves. One such article inquired: "Shall the searred veterans who put down the rebellion now submit to the rebels? We say a thousand times, No! You have once conquered rebels with guns in their hands; you will again conquer the 'rebs' in Congress having votes in their hands." Sensior Vest insisted that Congress was the only power that could say when Sistes should come into the Union. If the ordinance of 1787 (which provided that new States should be admitted when a population of 60,000 should be reached), was the only authority on the question, the debate would close at once. Senator Vest denied that that ordinance was now in force, and that ordinance was now in force, and read from decisions of the United Ftates Supreme Court to shew that that erdinance coased to exist on the adoption of the Federal Constitution in 1789. Any other view would forever put an end to any discretion in Congress as to the admission of New States. Senator Vest took the broad ground that no Vest took the broad ground that no ordinance or treaty whatever could hamper or bind Congress in a matter of so fundamental a character as this. If it could, then one Congress could forever bind future Congresses. We could tear to pieces any ordinance or treaty that should pretend to put such shackles on the Congress of the Unit-ed States. After alluding to the partiran references of the other side at some length, Senstor Vest concluded by charging that the record of the last Legislature of Dakota, even on the showing of Republican newspapers, was without a parallel in the history of bad schemes. In conclusion Sena-tor Vest said he would hereafter submit a proposition to divide the Terrisory by a line running north and south on the 101st parallel of longisude, re-as to provide for the keeping of the unsettled western, side in a territorial Senator Logan then took the floor, but gave way for a motion to adjourn, and the Senate accordingly adjourned natil Monday.

In the Commistee-Rooms, At the hearing given to-day by the Sepa'e Committee on Patents, to authorize publishers and others interested in the subject of international copyright, Mr. Gardner Hubbard addressed the committee in opposition to the passage of any copyright bills. Mr. James Russell Lowell, president of the American Copyright League, was introduced by Mr. Green, the secretary of the league, and spoke at some length in favor of the passage of an international copyright bill. In reply to Mr. Hubbard he said nobody would maintain that there was property in an idea. The property right was in the fashion of presenting the idea. The constitution recognized this in granting patents. Patents were nothing but idea fashioned in a cortain way. For instance the Bell tell-phone was precisely a parallel case with books. He declared there was one kind of books better than cheap books, and these were books honestly come by. He took the morel view of the question. Many of the arguments used by Mr. Hubbard might be used in defense of pocket-picking. One could live much easier if he could live upon the labors of other people, but this was not considered hones when he was young. Mr. Dowell spoke for an hour, chiefly in reply to in-quiries addressed to him by members of the committee. Mr. James Weich, president of the Typographical Union of Philadelphia, and representing the unions of the entire country, addressed the committee, and presented a me-morial in support of the Chase bill and in opposition to the Chase bill and in opposition to the Hawley bill. In reply to inquirier, he said the Hawley bill, amended as suggested by Senator Hawley yesterday, by the insertion of a provision requiring foreign works copyrighted here to be printed in this country, would be satisfactory to the labor approximation.

The House Committee on Labor today instructed Representative James to report favorably the bill introduced by him making it unlawful for any cfficer, agent or servant of the Government of the United States to contract with any person or corporation, or permit any official of any State prison where criminals of the United States may be incarcerated, to hire or contract out the labor of said criminals, and incarcerate of the labor of said criminals, and imposing a fine of from $500 to $1000, or imprisonment for one to three years, for violations of the act. Tae subcommittee having charge of the convict labor question reported favorably a bill probibiting the use of material made by convicts in the construct on of government works. The bill is a long one, and the full committee adjourned before contluding its consideration. The National Letter-Carriera' Association will appear be-fore the committee on Monday next in favor of the extension of the eight-hour law to letter carriers. The House Committee on Postoffices and Post roads to-day extended an invitation to the representatives of the 'Red D" steamship line to appear before the committee on February 4th on the question of open mail transpo ta-tion. Senator Hoar to-day submitted to the Senate an amendment to the elec-toral count bill, which he proposes to offer when the bill again comes up for consideration. It inserts in the fourth section of the bill a clause providing that in case of more than one return or paper purporting to be a return from a State, if there shall have been no determination of the question in the State, then those votes only shall be counted which appear to have been cast by the electors whose names sp-pear on the lists certified by the executive of the State in accordance with the provisions of Section 136 of the Revised Statutes as amended by this bill, but in case of a vacancy in the Board of Electors so certified, then by the persons appointed to fill such

It also adds to the bill an additional section, making it the duty of the executive of each State to cause the list of names of the electors in his State to be made and certifie under the great seal of the State, and to be delivered to the electors on or before the day on which they are re-

NEW HAVEN, NELSON Co., KY., Jacnary 27.—A respectable farmer, Mr. J. Knox Ice, who lives seven miles northwest of here, on the Beech Fork, has two sons—Alexander, aged 13 years, and Nicholas, aged 12—who six ak an unknown tongue, which they alone understand and which is wholly unknown to their parents or the rest of the family. It is a still more singular fact that each boy speaks a different language, but understands the other. It was not until recently that Alexauder could learn to speak English, Nichelas can't "catch on" yet, Alex-auder acting as interpreter between his younger brother and the other members of the family. The boys are good looking and endowed with average intelligence. Mr. Ice married a Miss Boone, and the families of both date back to our settlers. The boys have never traveled twenty miles from home, and times they were left open; that there were sounds as of some one moving the house, but upon a close doubt if they ever heard any other language than the English.

Mr. Ice has five other children, two older and three younger than these boys, all of whom speak their native tongue plainly, and always have, but know nothing whatever of the lan-guage spoken by Alexander and Nicholas.

The parents, as well as the whole community, are completely at a loss to know how to account for this strange freak of nature.

A Methodist View of the German Virginia letter to Dr. McAnally's Christian Advocate: Gen. Fitz Lee enters upon his duties under the most favorable circumstances. The devil no doubt fathered the suggestion of an "inaugural ball." The plan was to bring together 1000 or 1500 men and women paying $2.50 per head. Two bands were to discourse enlivening music in "measured strains," while hundreds of men in "measured strains" embraced fair women and re-volved with them about the floor of the vast hall—all in honor of the Gov-ernor. Our capital is a very religious city, with the Baptists and Methodists largely in the majority. The Kansas City and Birmingham Railroad Charter-The Agricultural Lien Law.

JACKSON, Miss., January 29.—Senste.

Mr. Walker introduced a bill providing for a constitutional convention.

The bill to reduce the sa'aries of members of the Legislature was in-definitely postponed.

Bills, resolutions, etc., passed: Joint resolution instructing the Committee on State Officers to investigate charges against certain county and State officers developed by the sworn testimony in a suit in the United States District Court.

The Kansas City and Birmingham railroad charter was reported back by the Committee on Railroads, with ann-dry amendments, all of which were adopted, and to all appearances the bill was about to pass when Mr. Si-monton threw in some dynamite in the shape of an amendment which prevents the road running nearer than twelve miles of the line of the Memphis, Birmingham and Atlantic read from Holly Springs to the Ala bama line.

Pending the discussion the Senate
